

ABSTRACT

- A layer 2 transport network, and components thereof, supporting virtual network functionality among customer edge devices. Virtual private
- 5 network configuration can be accomplished with merely local intervention by preprovisioning extra channel (or circuit) identifiers at each customer edge device and by advertising label base and range information corresponding to a list of channel (or circuit) identifiers.